

Bret Stevens, MBA

Bret Stevens is the Graduate Medical Education Manager at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, MI. In this position, he works extensively with program administration and education leadership in the development and oversight of the program coordinators for the 49 ACGME-accredited programs at the institution. Previous to his current role, he served as the Accreditation Coordinator, where he supported ACGME driven accreditation activities for the GME programs. Mr. Stevens has presented at a number of regional and national conferences, including the AAMC, ACGME, AHME, SEMCME, and MAME on the topics of accreditation and institutional oversight of medical education programs. Mr. Stevens is a graduate of Wayne State University's Master of Business Administration program and serves on the Health Services Administration Advisory Board at Davenport University.